Car trouble!

A two-car accident caused no fatalities but a few frowns and car troubles for Paul O'Haa, 29, who sustained minor injuries when his vehicle was struck by another car on Ecorse Road at the intersection of Merriman Thursday, Sept. 26.

Both vehicles, one headed northbound and the other headed southbound on Merriman, collided when Michael Klincke, 39 made a left turn in front of O'Haa, police said.

Huron prepares for 6th annual Applefest

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

It's apple pickin' time in Huron and residents there want everybody to know about it.

That's why for the last five years the township has waged its enormously successful APPLEFEST with pleasure and this year, with even greater intentions of success.

The festivities, scheduled to take-off at 6 p.m. Friday, Oct. 4 and expected to last until the last tired worker and visitor drops (10 p.m.) Sunday, Oct. 6, include dancing, arts and crafts booths, food, more food, a pie contest with Romulus's Junior Block as the official auctioneer, a 10-K run and canoe race.

This year's added features include a Friday night bango contest and Saturday's Fiddler's contest, during which country-wide fiddlers will participate in Huron's first sanctioned championship showdown. And, as always, the multitude of children's events guaranteed to occupy even the slightest apple-picker, including bike decorating, scarecrow, pumpkin carving and apple dunking contests.

If the idea of an 'applefest' seems a little too country for your tastes and all the hoopla a bit much, mind you that last year's festival drew at 20,000 visitors a day. And mind you that New Boston, home of the applefest, population in 1980 listed only $9,847.

That's a lot of people who aren't from the area who don't scoff at 'country-doin's'.

Born of a need to advertise and capitalize its 25 apple farms during harvest time, Huron residents found what they've found to be the perfect way - hold a township-wide festival with apples as the theme.

So every March since 1979, township applefest organizers rally support for the event among local residents and businesses. And every year, they march about town placing apple and harvest insignias wherever space provides.

"We just wanted to get something going for our apple growers," admitted New Boston's Linda Dyer, adding that no one anticipated the much-lauded success of the idea.

The biggest event of the festival, the parade, is scheduled for 1 p.m. Saturday during which this year's King and Queen of the Applefest will be declared.

The entourage of businesses and marching bands, including the Shriners, Huron's band and the drum and bugle corp from Canada, will begin at Sportsman Field on Sterling Street and continue to its destination at St. Stevens Church on Huron River Drive.

To demonstrate the enormity of the event to the township, the New Boston township hall was painted and newly-purchased awnings will be added this week in a show of pride.

Visitors will be instructed where to park there cars since the streets will be closed for the festivities. All are encouraged to stop by the Applefest Headquarters located near the township hall on Huron River Drive and pickup souvenirs commemorating this year's Applefest.

And never mind the rain, New Boston's Linda Dyer said, last year it rained throughout most of the three-day festival but no one seemed to mind.

This year's proceeds, in addition to providing operating funds for next year's activities, will go toward helping the Jaycees purchase an emergency vehicle for the township.

The money collected over the three days goes directly toward township improvement, Dyer said.

Romulus worker charged in slaying

George Allen Lomas III was bound over for trial in Wayne County Circuit Court in connection with the stabbing death of 64-year-old Westland resident Doris A. Tallman.

Lomas, a 21-year-old Romulus sanitation worker and neighbor of Tallman's, will be held without bond until the pre-trial, scheduled for 8:30 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 17, in Detroit's City County Building.

Lomas was bound over on a first-degree murder charge by 18th District Court Judge Thomas G. Smith following testimonies and cross examinations offered during a preliminary examination Monday.

According to testimony offered by the suspect's father, Lomas confessed to the slaying of Tallman, who was murdered while phoning the police for help from her Morley address Sept. 9.

"I went in and talked to my son in the police station," George E. Lomas, Jr. told the court. "I asked him, did he do it and he said, 'yes.' He told me he didn't mean to, but when he heard her calling the police he panicked." Tallman, Lomas told the court, was his godmother.

George Lomas was one of many Morley Street neighbors questioned by police following the murder. According to police, Lomas confessed to the breaking and entering and slaying and led investigators to the victim's purse, from which $35 had been stolen. Information he gave police also led to the recovery of a short bladed knife in Plymouth.

"He was giving the knife away, so I took it," one of Lomas' friends testified Monday. "It was a black throwing knife. He said he didn't want to have it when the cops came around asking questions."

Another witness during the examination identified Lomas as a neighbor who often helped Tallman with household chores.

Testimony was also offered by police officers who discovered Tallman after the victim's call to police was traced by a telephone operator.

Tallman managed to give the first three numbers of her address over the phone before she was stabbed to death in the kitchen of her home, police said. A tape of Tallman's call for help was played during the examination.

According to a Wayne County medical examiner who also took the stand, the victim was stabbed six times. Five blows to the front of her body punctured her heart, liver and left lung. A blow to the back hit her spine, the examiner said. Cuts and wounds to the victim's wrists and hands, apparently received while she attempted to defend herself against her attacker, were also noted.

Walking for hunger

Romulus and Belleville residents ready themselves this week for the Sixth Annual CROP Walk for Hunger. Sponsored by Church World Services, an interdenominational Christian hunger relief agency, the walk will feature an 11-mile trek from each city to the other.

Romulus participants will leave from the United Methodist Church 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 6 and walk to Belleville's St. Anthony's Catholic Church and Belleville residents will walk the opposite route.

Proceeds will go toward community agencies and to help feed the hungry in other countries.

Longpre suspect to stand trial

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

One suspect was ordered to stand trial and another was granted a psychiatric examination in a preliminary hearing for the slaying of a Westland mother of five.

Romulus District Judge Henry Zaborowski bound Dennis Lee Price, 33, of Detroit over to Wayne County Circuit Court on a charge of first-degree murder for the Sept. 12 kidnapping and murder of Patricia Longpre, 34, of Burlington Street in Westland.

Police found Longpre's badly burned body stuffed into the trunk of her car that had been set afire after she had been abducted on her way home from a Canton K-Mart store where she worked.

A co-defendant, Juan Hargrove, 19, of Inkster, was sent to the Center for Forensic Psychiatry in Ypsilanti for testing before a preliminary examination will be held.

The orders were issued by Zaborowski after two witnesses, 16-year-old Ronald Edwards, and Romulus Detective Sam Chalton testified Sept. 25.

Edwards, who testified that Longpre was abducted from her driveway, pleaded guilty to first-degree murder in juvenile court before the preliminary exam.

In return for being tried as a juvenile and not as an adult, Edwards agreed to testify against Hargrove and Price.

Edwards will remain within the jurisdiction of juvenile authorities for two years until he is 18 years of age.

He told the court that Hargrove aimed a .22 caliber pellet rifle at Longpre as she exited her car. Hargrove then instructed Price to follow in his vehicle while he (Hargrove) accompanied Longpre to an isolated spot on Henry Ruff Road in Romulus.

The original intent, Edwards testified, was to rob Longpre, who apparently told her captors that she had only 13 cents; found 16 cents during the initial search of the car.

After announcing that "she can identify us", Price, according to Edwards, then told Longpre to climb into her trunk after which he took a screwdriver from his car and tore the seats of Longpre's 4-door Pontiac and set the car on fire with gasoline and a cigarette lighter.

The two men and the youth then got back into Price's car and drove away. Edwards testified that he could "see the inside of the car glowing brightly".

Price's arraignment in circuit court is scheduled for Oct. 7.

The testimony has led police investigating the death to believe that Longpre's murder was an "isolated" incident and that the three defendants "just happened to be in the area" when Longpre was arriving home from work.

"She was an obvious target in their minds and it just went a lot further than anticipated," Chalton said after the hearing.

The preliminary testimony ended speculation for police and Longpre's neighbors who thought she may have been abducted from the K-Mart parking lot.

Residents of Burlington later said they thought Longpre's abduction may have been the result of a vendetta held by someone Longpre had identified as a shoplifter where she worked.

Millage meeting draws few citizens

If Monday night's turn out for the first public meeting on the millage proposals slated for the Nov. 5 General Election was any indication of their popularity, city officials might consider just packing up their brochures and returning to their respective offices.

Attendance for the meeting on the proposed one mill levy for fire operations, three mills for police operations and two mill for five years for a new police building consisted of eight people.

Two persons were city council candidates and two others were city hall employees.

The evening, however, did not end in vain and conversation became informal when forum leaders Junior Block,

Where there's smoke . . .

Trainer proposes 'living fire alarms'

At the ripe old age of 12-months, Joshua Spry has a big career ahead of him.

True, he has a good teacher, and the proven abilities, along with doting parents – but he not only has to learn to save lives, he has to prove to a bunch of experts that he can do it.

If not, his family may burn to death.

Joshua is the prototype for an experiment in dog rescue training presently under the direction of Dan Morris. Morris, a regular columnist with the Associated Newspapers, is a strong believer in the European method of dog training.

"I feel that the Europeans are 100 years ahead of us in the use of dogs and dog training," the veteran trainer explained last week when he met with a group of local fire chiefs to explain his fire-dog program. "If you go into a restaurant in Europe, it is not unusual to see a dog under a table – at markets, dogs are carrying baskets with sausages in them for their owners. I firmly believe a dog should be useful and functional. I don't think they are happy any other way," Morris said.

His meeting with the chiefs was an effort to familiarize them with his program, and to obtain some tips from them on the best method to use in one of the training aspects. He told the fire fighters that he needed criticism and advice – and they offered both.

Morris' program is designed to insure that when a dog, of any size, smells smoke in a home, he will begin to bark. After the barking, he will find his owners and pull them toward the door of the home, away from the smoke, even if they may be sound asleep in bed.

Sound too good to be true? Morris has based the training on simple steps that, he claims, 90 percent of dogs will learn without any problem. All he has done, he says, is put those simple commands together in a manner the dog, and the owner, can understand.

And who can dispute his expertise? Morris has been training dogs for more than 20 years, has put hundreds through his obedience classes, trained attack dogs, police tracking and drug dogs, NATO dogs and taught canines to do just about everything but talk, "and we came close," he says with a laugh.

JOSHUA, THE WONDER DOG

Chiefs offer tips

The fire chiefs offered Morris several suggestions regarding the program – the most urgent being the caution that a dog, even after this training, cannot replace a smoke detector. While the dog could augment and even precede the detector in sounding the alarm due to the dog's sensitivity of smell, a detector is still necessary in every home.

"We've pulled too many dead dogs out of burning homes," Chief Ken Warfield of Wayne said.

His opinion was shared by Ted Scott of Westland, who agreed that the program might be viable after seeing Morris' presentation – but he also urged caution.

The chiefs also reminded Morris that several cities have

Step 1

Morris advises that the first step in training your dog to become a living fire alarm is to teach him to retrieve. Simple. Nearly every dog has the instinct to bring back an object thrown for him. Throw a ball or a toy for him to bring back for you – when he does offer him lots of praise, Morris advises. Soon he should be "fetching" on command.

Then, merely pull on the object in the dog's mouth when he brings it back, with the command, pull. Soon, he'll catch on, and will be pulling on the toy at your command. This is when you get a little tricky. Now, Morris advises, make the local ordinances requiring the notification of the fire department when any smoke testing is being done.

"I really don't have any doubts that any dog can do this," Morris said. "I do worry about the safety aspects. I want people to have buckets of water ready – to be very cautious in that part of the training. That's why I needed the chiefs' advice."

object he is retrieving for you one of those rubber figure eight shaped toys.

When you have him retrieving and pulling on this toy, on command, you are half-way to having a fire dog.

Morris suggests if you have any problem adapting the dog to the rubber toy, smear it with cheese or hot dogs – something that will make it desirable to a canine palate. He'll find it a joy to retrieve it, and the more praise and encouragement you offer, the better.

Step 2

Now, when Fido brings back the rubber figure eight, wrap it around your wrist and tell him to pull. When he does, you're in business. In the meantime, teach him to speak on command.

This, too, says Morris, is an easy one. All dogs bark – particularly when you don't want them to. So when the mailman or the paperboy comes and the dog barks, don't shut him up as you normally do – when he barks, say "speak" and then offer him a lot of praise. Keep it up until the dog understands the connection between the word "speak" and his barking.

Teach him to speak for a dog treat before bed, or before going for a walk.

Now you are almost ready, Morris says, for the big time. This is the difficult part, and the reason he sought the aid of the fire department chiefs.

Step 3

What you need is some smoke. Lots of smoke. Morris had been using Sterno in a bucket of sand, but the fire chiefs agreed that this might not cause enough smoke to benefit in the training. They suggested a metal bucket with smoldering rags.

What do you do with it? Simple, says Morris. You get it smoking and take it into one room of your home. You call the dog in and you tell him to speak – and keep him speaking until the smoke is removed. You repeat the process until the dog knows that as soon as he sees the smoke, he is to speak. This, Morris, admits takes a lot of patience and a lot of praise.

Your praise and your diligence are what will make this work, Morris contends. "Don't give up and don't get frustrated. This is not something the dog learns overnight, but he will learn. You just have to connect the smoke and the barking in his mind. It may take longer with some dogs than others."

Step 4

Now, after he's speaking with the sight of the smoke, you take your trusty rubber figure eight, wrap it on a family member's arm and when the smoke is going and the dog is barking, take him to the "victim" and tell the dog to "pull." Put the person in a chair, in bed feigning sleep, and in every room, Morris suggests. Practice until the dog connects the smoke, the bark and the pulling on the family member.

"It is a long process," Morris admits, "but well worth it if you really want your dog to be of value to you. It is conceivable that every dog, no matter the size, can learn these commands and associate them. They don't have to be especially intelligent – the owners need to be especially patient."

Morris noted that once trained, the dog should be drilled on the procedures about once a month.

Okay, Josh, you're on.

Court postpones decision on landfill application

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

A toxic waste landfill operator's application to the Department of Natural Resources remains valid pending a judge's decision to either remove or leave intact a restraining order.

An attorney general's office spokesperson said Monday that although the DNR and EMS met Sept. 24 in a show cause hearing, at which the DNR was to demonstrate why the preliminary injunction should not be issued, the judge postponed his decision until later this week.

The injunction, issued Sept. 10 by Circuit Court Judge James Kallman of Ingham County, prevented the DNR from arbitrarily denying an application by Environmental Management Systems.

The postponement means that the DNR must continue to review the application that the it had previously rejected on the basis of "administrative errors", according to Pete Quackinbush, a DNR engineer.

The show cause hearing did result in EMS recinding a request that the DNR treat its application with "confidentiality", according to Elizabeth Valentine, from the attorney general's office.

EMS had placed a copyright on certain information contained in the application. The restriction on reproducing parts of the application prevented the DNR from publicly disseminating facts about the proposed toxic waste site at I-275 and Will Carleton Road in Huron Township.

Also, the agency must maintain a log of all addresses to whom the material is sent.

This provision, before it will be followed by the DNR, must be formally agreed upon by both parties, said Del Rector from the DNR.

"We haven't voiced any objections over that point," he said, "but it will be up to the judge to decide to either go along (with the provision) or not."

The DNR had previously dismissed the application in January 1984 because of "administrative errors".

The current review is the third for the company that operates a toxic waste landfill in Sumpter Township.

Van Born Road widening project set

County officials Monday said that bids for the resurfacing and repair of Van Born Road are in and work on the federal, state and local project should begin before the end of this month.

L.L. Simonovitis, division design engineer for the county, said that the State of Michigan, which is handling the bidding for the repair work, said there is usually a 3-4 week period before a contractor receives authorization to begin work.

Bids were received August 21. The lowest bid, according to Simonovitis, was $385,000. Original estimates placed the amount of repair work at $323,000 or $62,000 less.

The increase caused Romulus' 25 percent share to rise from the anticipated $25,880 to approximately $30,000.

The city council, at a May meeting, agreed to enter into a contract with the county authorizing the expenditure of its share of funds for the repair work.

The project will be partially funded by the 1985 Federal Aid

Urban System program.

Van Born Road will be widened and resurfaced between Merriman and Middlebelt roads, an area about one mile in length.

The repairs will provide a 48 foot roadway with 3-foot paved and 5-foot graveled shoulders.

Millage draws few citizens

Alan R. Lambert, Mayor Beverly McAnally, Dennis Davidson, Maryann Banks, Linda Choate, Bill Wadsworth, Pete Bergeron and Chief of Police Don Flood fielded questions about police operations from the audience.

Melvin Zilka told officials that he met few people during his campaign drive for city council who approved of the millage proposals.

"Of the 300 or 400 people I've talked to, I have yet to hear anybody tell me they're for it--you've got you're work cut out for you," he warned.

Zilka, as well as another audience member and council hopeful Marie Debuyscher, told forum leaders that the idea of a new building to house police operations was receiving little support in the community.

The current police station, located on Olive Street, is rented from the school district on a year-to-year basis, Flood told the sparse audience.

"The building is very, very old and the roof leaks," he said. "It served its purpose--a temporary solution to our needs. But it is certainly not an ideal building. It's not supposed to be--it's just an old school building."

The proposal to construct a new police headquarters was initiated when the cost of maintaining and repairing current structure was found to be at least $500,000.

Romulus's police department, just four years old, began at the Olive Street location when the department was in its infancy.

The meeting was one of four scheduled before the Election.

The millages are necessary, McAnally said, because $164,000 received by the city from federal revenue sharing funds will be discontinued as a part of President Ronald Reagan's 1986 budget cuts.

Ninety percent of the revenue sharing funds were allocated to police and fire operations.

According to information passed out during the meeting, the average homeowner with a $35,000 home can expect an increase of $105 annually if voting for all three measures.

If the millages fail, McAnally warned, city services will be cut from recreation, street plowing and salting and other departments to fund the police and fire departments.

The second meeting for public discussion of the millage proposals is scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 7 at Hale Creek School on Harrison Road.

Dorothy Schroeder and Alberta C. Fair spent a very enjoyable evening attending the Ford Wives Club at the World Headquarters in Dearborn on Saturday, Sept. 24.

While there, they had the pleasure of meeting one of television's well known personalities—Jack McCarthy, who is well known to Channel 7 viewers.

Jack is also famous for his Cajun-style restaurant, located in Keego Harbor, and the ladies got a chance to sample some of the delectable food served there, as well as an autograph to serve as a memento of the event.

By the way, congratulations are in order for Ms. Schroeder upon her appointment to the Belleville City Council to serve out the vacancy left by Donald Carlson's resignation.

The Belleville Area Historical Society will meet again Oct. 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the Red Apple Restaurant, Main Street, Belleville. Any interested person is invited to attend.

The five-member Park Commission, headed by Park Gregory, has been awarded the Keep Michigan Beautiful Award for the project honoring the famed French explorer Robert La Salle, whose statue now stands in Victory Park.

The award will be presented to the commission Oct. 18 at a ceremony in Grosse Point Woods.

'Berry-good' awards

Plaques were presented at the September meeting of the Strawberry Festival for the hard work and efforts displayed by several members of the group in this year's festival. Receiving the honors were Lori Slavick (from left), parade coordinator; Patricia Birbeck, president of the 1985 event and Hazel Bigham, treasurer for the group.

Local resident Ruth Davis took a bus trip, covering 10 states, in August. With her companion, Elsie Fulford, they visited Yellowstone National Park, the Black Hills and Badlands and also visited Mt. Rushmore. In all they travelled a total of 4,503 miles.

State ID cards carry 'under 21'

If you're under 21 and have applied for an identification card or driver license from the Michigan Department of State, you'll find something new on that card as of today.

According to Secretary of State Richard Austin, beginning today such cards issued to individuals under 21 will carry the words "under 21" above the photograph.

The change, a first for the state, is required by a new state law.

The "under 21" will enable restaurants, tavern owners and others to determine if in an individual is under 21 at a glance without having to calculate from the birthdate shown on the license or identification card.

The change is part of an overall state effort to help identify and prevent individuals under 21 from purchasing alcoholic beverages, drinking and driving.

Currently, most driver licenses are valid for a four-year period, however, Austin said that all first-time licenses issued beginning Oct. 1, 1985, will be valid until the individual's 21st birthday. Regardless of age, individuals under 21 obtaining a license for the first time must now renew at age 21.

Austin cautioned that law enforcement officials and others that it will require between four and five years before all driver licenses belonging to individuals under 21 will be marked "under 21."

The new driver licenses also will carry a reminder to "buckle up" as required by Michigan law.

Lisa Owen wins sweepstakes

Romulus resident Lisa Owen was among 200 Detroit metropolitan area residents to receive from $50 to $2,500 in the Manuway cash sweepstakes, sponsored by Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit.

The sweepstakes, held during July, were designed to increase the usage of Manuway automatic teller machines (ATMs) by Manuway and other Magic Line ATM cardholders. More than 22,000 persons entered the sweepstakes, and the number of transactions at the Manuway ATMs exceeded the bank's goals by 100 percent. The prize drawings were held Aug. 2.

Magic Line is a statewide network of more than 2,000 automatic teller machines, and Manuway is the registered trade name of Manufacturer's Bank's 66 ATMs.

Owen won $50 in the drawing.

Range sets 'sight-in'

Western Wayne County Conservation Association announces their annual Sighting-In Days at its ranges in Plymouth Township.

WWCCA is located just west of Plymouth, convenient to the I-275 and M-14 freeways. The address is 6700 Napier Road, which is midway between Five Mile Road and North Territorial Road. Almost one half century old, WWCCA has offered Sighting-In Days as a public service for more than 25 years.

Expert assistance will be available to help the shooter in sighting-in his or her firearm(s) or to make minor adjustments to scopes or firearms to assure accuracy and most importantly—SAFETY!!! Most of the range officers on duty will be NRA-certified instructors, as well as several Class C and Class B coaches.

The ranges will open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Oct. 19 through and including Nov. 14.

Shotguns, as well as rifles, may be sighted-in. Further information may be obtained by calling 453-9843.

County eyes water park plan

The Wayne County Commission has approved a $15,000 expenditure from the parks budget to study the feasibility for development of a recreational water park, possibly located in Western Wayne County, according to County Commissioner Milton Mack.

The expenditure will fund a market study by the Texas firm, William L. Haralson & Associates, Inc., the leading expert on water park development.

Assembly of a financing package to attract developers would be included in the study, as well as the selection of a county-owned site for the project.

Mack, the chairman of the Commission's Committee on Public Services, said the committee expressed interest in water park development after learning that Haralson & Associates had completed a study for the City of Detroit and recommended Eliza Howell Park rather than Belle Isle for a similar development.

"We're enthused because the proposed study was requested by a developer with potential for a wave-action pool located somewhere in Western Wayne County," said Mack. "It is something that conceivably would service many citizens in this area, and it represents the continuing expansion and diversification of services offered by our Department of Parks and Recreation."

New Japanese 'Super Pill' Insures Rapid Weight-Loss

No Dieting — Eat All You Want, Pill Does All The Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA — An exciting new "all natural" weight-loss "Super" Pill developed by the JMA (Japanese Medical Association) has just been approved for distribution in the United States. Reportedly, it can guarantee that you will lose more than a pound a day without dieting, from the very first day until you reach your ideal weight and figure. News of this "Super Pill" is literally sweeping the country. It's called Amitol and there has never been anything quite like it before.

"Flushes Calories Right Out Of Your Body"

What makes Amitol so thrilling and unique is its reported ability to flush calories right out of your body. Amitol is completely safe, it contains no drugs whatsoever. Its ingredients are derived solely from the Konjac root which grows primarily in Northern Japan.

Why the Konjac root? It has been used in Japan for over 1600 years to produce rapid and natural weight-loss!

Japanese studies verify that Konjac root actually prevents fat producing calories from being absorbed into your system. They say it does this by surrounding much of the fats, proteins and carbohydrates you have eaten with a protective viscous coating which is then gently flushed out of your system. And according to Japanese research this produces absolutely amazing results.

And who can disagree! Amitol (although brand new to this country) is already being called by many people, "the most exciting weight-loss breakthrough of the century." In fact, everywhere there are reports of easy and fast weight-loss from formerly overweight people (in all walks of life) who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Company Offers Extraordinary Guarantee

You now can purchase Amitol direct from the North American distributor, and it comes with an extraordinary guarantee.

If you place your order now and then follow the simple instructions for a period of 30 days, you must be completely satisfied with the dramatic visible results or just return the empty container and Dyna Labs will immediately send back your entire purchase price. This guarantee applies regardless of your age or current weight level. What could be better than that! It's just that simple. If you've tried to lose weight before and failed you no longer have an excuse. Amitol is available, it's easy and it works without dieting!

Best of all, ordering Amitol is simple, fast, and reliable! Simply call Dyna Labs Toll Free: (1-800-441-5454) and order with your credit card. If you don't have a credit card Dyna Labs will also accept C.O.D. orders right over the phone! All orders are shipped immediately by UPS, which means no delay and no orders lost in the mail!

Snickers – no laughing matter

Some time ago, a member of our editorial staff conducted what she referred to as a "scientific experiment". With careful forethought, she purchased a Snickers candy bar. Tearing with the skill of a brain surgeon, she methodically removed the wrapper on one end, took one bite, but only for science, in order to note the relative age of this chewy treat. Then, with great precision she placed exhibit "A" on the corner of her desk, in a prominent, yet carefully selected, location where it might be left for further study and analysis. And there it stayed, this delicious little Snickers bar . . . for six months!

Every few days our editorial researcher would observe this tasty treat, taking note as to whether it was showing any sign of its growing age. It did not.

"Awh," she concluded, "this morsel of goodness has preservatives to prevent it from aging."

Days, weeks, and months passed. "Interesting," she noted, "not only does it not show age, but insects avoid at all costs this mouth-watering bit of refreshment".

At the end of six months, she ended the experiment and retired the chocolate delicacy to the great dumpster in the mysterious beyond, sometimes referred to as the alley. As yet this study has not been the basis for a doctoral thesis, but perhaps there is something here worth noting.

Does it occur to you that if our food is that saturated with chemicals so as to preserve a Snickers candy bar in virtually mint condition for six months, and if our children are consuming such goodies as much of their substance, then perhaps our children will in turn never grow old! Or perhaps when the younger generation passes on they will be so saturated with preservatives that no additional means of embalming their bodies will be necessary.

Perhaps this is the lost secret of the Egyptians which allowed them to mummify the Pharaohs keeping their remains intact throughout eternity. Maybe this is how the Russians have immortalized the last earthly vessel of Lenin in Red Square. Just before the end, they fed him a Snickers bar.

Perhaps there is nothing funny about a perfectly preserved, six-month-old Snickers. At first blush this all may seem mildly amusing, until you give the subject more than a passing thought.

Gaylord Hausser said in his book many years ago, "You Are What You Eat". What we shovel through that orifice in the front of our skull does indeed have a profound effect on what we become. To be sure it affects our profile. But it also affects our ability to function, think, excell, risk, participate, to win or lose.

The food industry as we all know is in the business of marketing. They have to make it "look good" whether it is or is not, or else it won't sell. They spray fruit with chemicals, then subject it to gasses in order to make it the right color. They feed "supplements" to make cattle heavier, faster. They add ingredients to give Snickers and most everything else, a longer shelf life. It's a matter of economics, like it or not.

Occasionally, we trip across a specific element like red dye that some caring soul documents as causing hyperactivity in children, and after heavy protests from consumers groups, manufacturers stop using it. Another chemical additive has demonstrated itself to cause cancer in laboratory experiments with animals and the Food and Drug Administration removes it from the market.

In the last few years we have all read of a few maniacs who intentionally have added poisonous substances to shelf products in order to premeditatedly cause harm to people they don't even know. I sometimes think there are far more maniacs working in chemical labs doing research for food and drug companies and who couldn't care less how much harm is caused by their experiments with our lives through food tampering.

Occasionally accidents happen. The most notable example being the PBB disaster that caused so many pain, discomfort, and money. Tainted milk was recently discovered in Illinois, the result being a recall and a great deal of illness. And let us not forget the botulism catastrophe emanating from the mexican restaurant in Oakland County just a few years back.

Most all of us have been told by our doctors that there are side effects to most any drug on the market. You can confirm that by reading through one of the paperback reference books now available in most drug stores. I learned recently just how severe the reaction can be when I was given a prescription drug I had never encountered before. Suffice it to say, the body's reaction be acute. Food and its additives also cause allergic reactions that can cause discomfort and disrupt bodily functions.

Fortunately, Americans have become far more aware of what it is that they are consuming and the price they pay for abuses. Obviously we eat too much, tend to become overweight, and increase our chances of a heart attack or stroke.

We think less about how for many, fast food has become the mainstay of our caloric intake. By doing so, therefore, we increase the risk of a shorter life due to a high-fat diet.

Americans inhale cigarette smoke, ingest abusive amounts of alcohol, and take an excess of drugs. We go to sleep with drugs, stay awake with drugs, lose weight with drugs, not to mention staying calm with drugs. If we can abuse ourselves, we seem to find a way to do it.

If any of this sounds like criticism of those who derive their livelihood selling the myriad of ingestible goods that do bad things to us, I say not really. In a free society we have the right to choose. We can live on a balanced nutritional diet or eat junk food, we can eat meat or be a vegetarian, we can eat too much or only enough to maintain a heal-

Tuned in to reality

Cable television was, once again, the hottest topic of discussion at the meeting of the city council in Romulus last week.

That isn't too surprising. Cable television has been, for at least four years, one of the most discussed, debated and time consuming issues brought before municipal officeholders in nearly every city we serve.

The reason? Simple. Cable television is something that affects citizens in a very tangible and obvious manner. They want those 26 or 42 or 87 channels on their televisions and they want them now . . . and it is the responsibility of the city officials to get them and get them NOW!

Debates have raged, threats have been uttered, promises made and broken and endless complaints filed. There have been arguments, insults have been hurled and profane references to the parentage of several parties have been heard, all in an effort to get as many channels as possible on a television set.

It is truly regrettable that citizens do not evidence such concerns about the schools their children attend, the condition of the city budgets, the levying of tax millages on their property or the general management of the municipalities in which they live.

The latest arguments took place in Romulus when the franchise holder there, Barden Cablevision, asked for an extension on construction. Now, it appears that the Romulus council has the benefit of some very wise and experienced legislators – many of whom it would also appear, read the papers. Construction deadline extensions in the cable industry are as common as typographical errors in ours. There just isn't too much you can do to totally eliminate them although they are an embarrassment – they are still a hazard of the job.

We do not know of too many cable companies wiring any community that have not had to ask for some type of extension – and it is just as common to have to restructure the initial proposal somewhat when the actual design of the system begins. In short, it's all part of the game and a natural part of the process.

Cable people are, for the most part, fairly complacent about the complaints, the arguments and the insults. They've heard it all before, probably worse, and while they understand the problem, they also understand that that's all it is, a problem. It is not a crisis, nor a catastrophe.

Don Barden, owner of Barden Cablevision, has been patient, accessible and conciliatory, not to mention apologetic in Romulus. This from a man who recently landed the largest cable contract in the country . . . a man who is neck deep in negotiations for this construction and financing of one of the most expensive systems in the nation. Why? Because he's been through it before. He knows what the problems are. He understands the anxiety, the pressures put on politicians in this situation, and he also knows that once he gets it completed, and the public can sit and watch movies all night, or sports from anywhere in the country or even the Playboy Channel, everything will be fine.

The Romulus council members seem to have learned from watching the events in other communities. Yes, they want this system completed and yes, they want to meet the demands of the public, but they also seem to realize that there are natural and human causes of delay in an endeavor of this size.

Our hats are off to them for their handling of this matter. They have made concessions, decisions and offered Barden a new deadline which they consider reasonable. They are making a serious attempt to do what is best for the entire community, without submitting to the emotional reactions of the inexperienced and volatile public.

More than music
To the Editor:
Most Wayne-Westland residents may not be aware of a fantastic happening that occurs the week prior to school opening each fall, marching band camp.

As a parent and R.N., I was afforded the opportunity to be a camp nurse and chaperone and see Wayne Memorial High School Marching Band prepare for their 85-86 season. Not having had any previous experience with a marching band, I had only an inkling of what goes on before their first performance. I wish that every band parent and many citizens of Wayne-Westland could be at camp, to see how hard these high school students work, putting in nine hours of practice a day, sometimes running back the same formation 85 times, if necessary, 'til each routine in near perfect. Mr. Gresik, their director, reminded me of a marine drill sergeant and is to be commended on the excellent high-step marching band he produces year after year.

While teenagers are constantly being recognized for their delinquency, the Wayne Memorial High School Marching Band is an excellent ambassador for our cities.

I returned home after the week at camp honored to be a part of this superb organization. Now when I observe their performance in a parade or football half-time show, I, too, swell with pride, not just for my child, but for all the members of the band, for W.M.H.S. and for Wayne-Westland.

You saw them marching in Wayne's Homecoming Parade a few weeks ago. When you see them in Wayne-Westland's Thanksgiving Day Parade, think for a moment of the time and energy behind the performance and show them your support with an extra round of applause.

DEAR INVESTOR, IN MY OPINION Federal Reserve Board Policy seems to be focused on fourth quarter economic performance. The rapid rise in money supply (M-1) has made it possible for the banking system to finance larger inventories for manufacturers and retailers.

Retailers are starting to build "Christmas selling season" inventory. Consumers, overburdened with debt, will reluctantly support this effort. However, a possible sales decline in "big ticket items," led by autos, could blunt the economic upturn in the Fed's fourth quarter goal.

Commercial banks are experiencing a decline in "consumer time deposits." Consumers are finding that they are being offered interest rates that have been reduced substantially, on new or rollover C.D.s. Many consumers are not accepting these rates, and are looking for enhanced yields.

This week interest rates will be flat to higher. The major decline in prices, of interest sensitives, will be more of a reaction to reduced fundamentals than to increasing interest rates. International confusion will continue to keep upward pressure on gold and silver prices.

For this week, the market will open with strong buying enthusiasm. This buying enthusiasm may begin to subside by the end of the session.

Intermediate term traders will start the session on the sidelines, but move up to the buy side by mid session. Long term traders continue to remain on the sidelines.

For this week, the market will open "up" strongly on the announcements by General Foods and Allied Corp. General Foods has acknowledged it is the subject of a $120 million takeover offer. Allied Corp. has announced its plan to repurchase up to 25 million of their own outstanding shares. These factors may create excitement and obscure the fact that the broad market, led by defense, aerospace and airlines is under selling pressure.

This may be a good time for all investors to re-evaluate their current positions. Re-evaluation should consider the possibility of higher interest rates, an increase in the rate of inflation, and a possible decline in corporate earnings. Any defensive move or change in investment portfolio should be done during periods of buying enthusiasm.

By the end of the session, buying enthusiasm may start to decline and profit taking will cause some downward bias.

OPINION FOR SEPTEMBER 29, 1985

NOTE: A major effort to lower the dollar against foreign currencies and head off a possible trade war was unveiled by the United States and four other nations; GNP grew as a 2.8 percent pace in the second quarter; second quarter corporate after-tax profits rose .3 percent, the first rise since the 1984 first quarter; Saudi Arabia may double its oil output from the current 2.2 million barrels per day; and durable goods rose 3.4 percent in August.

thy desirable weight level.

If people didn't consume and, in fact demand, goods whether they harm us or not, they wouldn't survive in the marketplace. If the makers of Snickers candy bars pump them full of chemicals to prevent them from decaying, then they tell us on the label what they have done, and we choose to buy them and eat them, then we have only ourselves to thank.

Perhaps on balance, were it not for the many additives, chemicals and witchcraft ingredients food marketers lace our food with, maybe we would perish from malnutrition, anemia, or starvation. I don't envy them their problems.

I can not help but wonder how much better as a nation we might all think and act, however, if we sustained ourselves with food that was free of damaging chemicals added solely to make food prettier, more colorful, or more long lasting.

Maybe next we'll test a Twinkie. See you next week

Guidelines established for school meal programs

Wayne County Intermediate School District announced the policy for free and reduced price meals and free milk which will be followed by all schools (public and non-public), preschools, child care centers, Head Start Programs and the residential child care institutions in Wayne County participating in federally reimbursed Child Nutrition Programs.

The programs include the National School Lunch Program, School Breakfast Program, Special Milk Program, USDA Commodity Distribution Program, and the Child Care Food Program.

Those participating in the programs will use the following household size and income criteria for determining eligibility:

- One household member, $6,825 income for free meals or milk and $9,713 income for reduced price meals;
- Two household members, $9,165 for free meals and free milk and $13,043 income for reduced price meals;
- Three household members, $11,505 for free meals and free milk and $16,737 for reduced price meals;
- Four household members, $13,845 for free meals and free milk and $19,703 for reduced price meals;
- Five household members,

$16,185 for free meals and free milk and $23,033 for reduced price meals;

- Six household members, $18,525 for free meals and free milk and $26,363 for reduced price meals;
- Seven household members, $20,865 for free meals and free milk and $29,693 for reduced price meals;
- Eight household members, $23,205 for free meals and free milk and $33,023 for reduced price meals;
- Each additional household member add $2,340 for free meals and free milk and $3,330 for reduced price meals.

Children from households whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free or reduced-price meals.

Application forms will be sent to all homes with a letter to parents or guardians. To apply for free or reduced-price meals, households should fill out the form and return it to the school. Additional copies of the application form are available at the principal's office in each school.

Households should answer all questions on the form. An application which does not contain all of the following information cannot be processed by the school: (1) the total household income and the amount and the source of income received by each household member (such as wages, child support, etc.) or the household's food stamp case number if the household is on food stamps; (2) names of all household members; (3) social security numbers of all household members 21 years of age or older, or the word "none" for any adult household member who does not have a social security number; and (4) the signature of an adult household member.

The information provided by the household is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility and verifying data. Applications may be verified by the school or other officials at any time during the school year.

If children are approved for free or reduced price meal benefits, the household must report to the school increases in household income over $50 per month ($600 per year) and decreases in household size.

Households may apply for benefits at any time during the school year. If a household is not currently eligible, but has a decrease in household income, an increase in household size or if a household member becomes unemployed, the household should fill out an application at that time.

In certain cases foster children are eligible for these benefits regardless of the household's income. If a household has foster children living with them and they wish to apply for free and reduced-price meals for them, the household should contact the school for more information.

Under the provisions of the policy, each public school district, non-public school, preschool, child care agency, Head Start Center and residential child care institution determines an official or officials to review applications and approve or disapprove eligibility.

If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of an official, he or she may make a request orally or in writing for a hearing to appeal the decision. The name and address of the hearing official will be in the letter to parents, and the outline of the hearing procedure is in the policy.

In the operation of the child feeding programs no child will be discriminated against on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, sex, or handicap. If any member of a household believes they have been discriminated against, they should write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C., 20250.

Fischers mark 40th anniversary

A two-day celebration June 29-30 helped Nick and Teresa Fischer of Belleville observe their 40th wedding anniversary.

The couple originally exchanged their wedding vows on June 26, 1945.

The celebration was given by the couple's five children and their spouses - Jim and Sandy Fischer, Joe and Caroline Lewek, Lonny and Marilyn Mascho, Larry and Diane Ellison and Greg and Denise Bator.

It started with a 4 p.m. Mass June 29 at St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Belleville, where the couple renewed their wedding vows before the Rev. Raymond Skoney and 100 guests.

Also attending were Mrs. Fischer's sister and brother-in-law, Mat and Katherine Hatzenbuehler of Portland, Oregon. Mrs. Hatzenbuehler served as her sister's maid of honor at the original nuptial ceremony.

The readings were by daughters Caroline and Marilyn, with grandchildren Tom, Mark and Julie Villeneuve and Monica and Melissa Lewek providing the music. The latter grandchildren played the cornet and clarinet for the ceremony, while daughters Denise and Diane sang and played the guitar.

A reception for the anniversary couple was held at the VFW Hall in Wayne, with more than 150 guests in attendance. The couple cut a five-tiered wedding cake, made for them by their daughter Caroline.

The celebration continued on June 30 at the Fischer residence, with family and friends gathering for games, singing, dancing and a pig roast.

The couple's grandchildren in attendance included Melissa, Monica and Lori Lewek, Tracey Fischer, Lindsay Mascho and Angel Ellison.

Three of Fischer's sister were able to attend the party, while Mrs. Fischer's brother, six sisters and several nieces and nephews from Oregon, Montana and North Dakota joined in the festivities. Relatives from Chicago, Illinois, Toronto, Ontario, Canada, Detroit and throughout the state of Michigan, Ohio and Texas also attended.

chef larry janes

When a sampling of the following dessert recipe was served to friends recently and they said things like "This reminds me of my mother's gingerbread," or, "The only good thing about getting sick when I was young was that Aunt Rosie would bring me her special rice pudding," I knew just what they meant.

The flavor and the aroma of old-fashioned desserts such as gingerbread, poundcake and baked apples reminds me of the best times growing up. And they are part of America's childhood as well.

Not so many generations ago, when we were a society of farmers and small-town dwellers, the motto was "waste not, want not." It was cross-stitched on samplers and practiced in the kitchen. Refrigeration did not exist. (Gee, how did they get by?) Exotic tropic kiwi fruits and swiss chocolate were literally unknown. So, desserts were created with the ingredients on hand: a bit of leftover cake or bread went into pudding, or the last few apples form the barrel reappeared in the disguise of a brown betty.

The results were so good they even inspired songs of praise: remember "Shoo-fly Pie and Apple Pan Dowdy"???? (My mom helped me with that one!)

Best news of all, the recipes used were virtually disaster-proof! Designed to bake in temperamental wood-fired stoves, they were done WHEN THEY LOOKED DONE.

Desserts such as the ones I'll include depend now, as they did in the past, on the freshest ingredients. Use only unsalted butter (Getting tempted yet, Dave?) because it has less moisture than the salted variety and it cooks up with a bit more buttery flavor. Note the reliance on light cream or half and half: it's butterfat content is the closest thing we have these days to the rich milk of decades ago.

With our preoccupation with food French and foreign, we sometimes neglect homey favorites and that's too bad because they were and are still easy to make, economical and highly nourishing. (Not to mention fattening.)

After I write this article, I think I'll drive down to Mom and Dad's place with a bag of apples and learn from her the secrets to getting the best crust and tenderest filling.

Bon Appetit!

MY SISTER MARY'S BEST PREBAKED CRUST EVER

1 cup flour
1/3 cup mayonnaise
2-3 tablespoons ice water
Blend mayonnaise into the flour. Add ice water until a nice crust forms. Refrigerate one hour. Press into pie plate. Bake at 425 degrees for 8 minutes. Makes a 9-inch crust.

HER EQUALLY FAMOUS PECAN PIE

1 cup Karo corn syrup
1 cup dark brown sugar, firmly packed
1/3 cup melted butter or margarine
3 eggs, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
dash salt
2 cups shelled pecans

Combine and mix well syrup, sugar, butter, salt and vanilla. Add slightly beaten eggs. Pour into a 9-inch UNBAKED pie shell with 1/2 of the pecans in it. Sprinkle remaining pecans over all. Bake in preheated oven of 350 degrees for 40 minutes. She says to serve it cool, but I can never wait that long.

GRANDMA LORY'S APPLE BROWN BETTY

1/2 pound brown sugar (1 cup plus 2 tablespoons, packed)
1/2 cup homemade fine dry breadcrumbs
1/2 cup (1 stick) unsalted butter
8 pippin or greening apples, peeled and cored
Cinnamon
Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine sugar, breadcrumbs and butter in a bowl and mix well. Layer about 1/3 of the apples in a small baking dish.

Cover with about 1/3 of crumb mixture. Sprinkle with cinnamon. Repeat until dish is filled, ending with crumbs and cinnamon. Cover with foil and bake for 45 minutes. Remove the foil and continue baking for about 30 minutes or until top is nicely browned. Need I tell you that this should be served with ice cream or whipped cream?

MA'S RICE PUDDIN'

1 cup rice
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups water
1/3 cup sugar
3 cups milk
3 egg yolks
3/4 cup half and half
2 teaspoons vanilla
1/2 cup golden raisins, plumped in apple juice and drained
Fresh grated nutmeg

Combine rice, salt and water in a medium saucepan. Simmer 3 minutes. Drain off the water. Add sugar and milk and bring to a simmer over low heat. Stir occasionally. Cook, uncovered until the milk is absorbed. About 30 minutes. Let cool. Preheat oven to 300 degrees. Butter a deep casserole dish (Ma says, preferably, glass). Whisk egg yolks with half and half and vanilla. Combine with cooled rice, mixing well. Stir in the raisins. Turn into the bak-

dining with jessica

Meet Jessica! She's brand new, in more ways than one, and is the restaurant reviewer we've chosen to best tell our readers what to expect at local eateries.

As is clearly evident from Jess' first critique of Mama and Pasta's, she is no amateur. She's hard to please, has a practiced eye and a very discriminating palate. Additionally, she notices a great many things that most restaurant diners never think of.

Obviously, Jessica has a little help on her reviews - can YOU spell vichyssoise? - from her rather illustrious, but reclusive father. Indeed, it would appear that most of Jessica's food tastes and talent are inherited from her well-trained parent who has degrees from several colleges of cuisine (telling where just might give his secrets away) and is, additionally, very well known in the area.

We think Jessica is a pure delight and hope you'll enjoy her as much as we do. We welcome your comments and suggestions for possible objects of her column. Write us, or Jessica, at P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Michigan, 48184.

Nice touch, but canned, pre-sweetened lemonade mix with a few floating lemon slices - and no ice. Also, why were there six other people sitting on the benches when the dining room was a little more than half full? As a matter of fact, on one visit, I can remember being seated BEFORE another couple who was waiting before us. (No, they weren't waiting for a smoking table, the hostess sat them right across from us.)

Anyway, we were cheerfully greeted by SUZIE (I think that was her name) our waitperson who brought over my high chair and a basket of real warm herbed bread. I thought the bread was pretty tasty, but my folks kept muttering adjectives like "soggy" and "underdone." I didn't believe my dad when he said it probably was sitting in a steam oven for a while. Who cares? It was great!

I ordered the "Chicken in a Garden" soup. Boy, was I glad they supplied a plastic bib because it was loaded with spiral egg noodles, chunks of what looked like canned chicken and loads of celery and carrots. The broth was a bit watered down, but nonetheless, pretty tasty. Suzie, our waitperson, didn't even mind that I dropped a few pieces of carrot and celery on the floor.

While trying my soup, my parents (I have to take them along until I can sign my own charge slips) received their salads. I immediately noticed that they were covered with a lot of moisture. Dad said they made them up early this morning and that they were sitting in a cold cooler. Mom noticed that the plate had a lot of purple stuff called cabbage and not much lettuce. I remember somebody once called that purple stuff "cheap filler." I reached over and stuck my hand in the salad dressing. The waitperson called it bleu cheese, but I couldn't taste any.

All of a sudden, there was this commotion on the opposite end of the restaurant. I noticed about six of the waitstaff parading around and stopping at this one table, clapping their hands and singing a version of "Happy Birthday" that I had never heard before. Then, they went to another table and did the same thing. It was exciting, but annoying. I wonder what happens to their orders and customers when they parade around like that.

We ordered a Mama's Choice Pizza (small at $5.95) and my folks split a Pasta Primavera ($3.95 lunch/$5.95 dinner). The pizza was made with the same stuff the herbed bread was made out of. Wasn't really crusty like I like it, but the flavor of the Italian sausage and black olives was good. The pepperoni was okay, but the mushrooms - why were they canned? The sauce wasn't really as spicy as they said it was, but that was okay 'cause I don't like spicy foods all that much. We gave it a 6 rating!

The Pasta Primavera (pasta tossed with a light garlic butter and sauteed fresh vegetables) was pretty good. My dad thought the pasta was a tad overcooked, but for the most part, the light garlic sauce was exceptional as were the pieces of pea pods, broccoli, tomatoes and zucchini. I liked the broccoli best. We rated it an 8.5!

We returned for dinner later that week and tried the special of the evening (a good, but bland, scrod) and the teriyaki breast of chicken that was way overcooked and dried out. I had the homemade ravioli and we all agreed that I had chosen the winner of the evening.

The ravioli was definitely homemade and I loved the meat stuffing. The sauce was really rich and tasted like it had been simmering all day. My dad said it probably was. (What did he mean by that?)

We ordered an Antipasto salad that was right out of the can, though. A little overpriced for one slice of salami, one slice of ham, two artichoke hearts, shredded mozzarella and canned tuna. Their vinaigrette dressing was bottled Italian, but gee, what do you expect in an Italian restaurant. Again, that evening, we noticed the same band of roaming singers and hand clappers. Looked a little Hare Krishna-ish to me.

All-in-all dinner was rated a 7 (pretty good for my folks, who are really fussy) so, I guess we'll be back.

... by ginny eades

Dear Bank President:

I recently experienced a series of incidents that affected both my cash reserve and Master Charge accounts. In short, I issued checks in April and May 1985 in payment of my cash reserve that did not hit my account until June 10 and June 15, respectively. Without elaborating any further, these two "lost" checks have created havoc on several levels.

From May 1985 until the week of July 8, 1985, I, by telephone, attempted to solve this problem with the personnel in the customer service department at your bank. I was consistently met with employees who either didn't know what to do; simply did not care; or worse, refused to take the time to assist me by telephone. Inasmuch as I am located in the suburbs, the solution seemed to require a trip to your downtown offices, which, as a small business person, would have been very expensive for me. During the week of July 8, 1985, I was fortunate enough to reach Ms. MW, a supervisor in your customer assistance department. Ms. MW was immediately receptive, concerned and made a point of working with me to solve, by now, a very complicated problem. Ms. MW should be viewed as management as a very valuable employee. Frankly, she was like a breath of fresh air.

I most sincerely hope that, in some way, she will be noticed as she is most definitely the type of staff person that is an asset to any organization.

Sincerely, LE

RESOLUTION: Interestingly enough, LE never received a response from the bank president. MW, however, did call LE and thank her profusely. MW further indicated that the letter had been forwarded to her supervisor and was read at a staff meeting in front of her colleagues which, needless to say, made LE feel like a million bucks. We tend to take action when things go wrong; in this situation LE threw a little warmth and sunshine in MW's life, which she certainly deserved. Next time someone is "good" to you, why not tell them - "If you love someone, let them know."

BANKS CREATE PROBLEMS, EMPLOYEE SOLVES THEM!!!

Dear Letter Writer:

I have both a Master Charge and Visa as well as a cash reserve account with a local Detroit bank. For several months, I was going crazy trying to get the bank to properly credit and not lose my payments. My credit rating is extremely important to me as I run a small business and do not need any infractions on my record. It was a disaster and a comedy of errors that I didn't think were very funny. Finally, an employee, "God bless her," rescued me and straightened everything out. I want to write a letter to her supervisor.

Sincerely, LE

Federated Women's Clubs observe 90th anniversary

September marked an important occasion for the GFWC Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs.

It was the 90th anniversary of the founding of the organization, which has 8,500 members in 200 clubs across the state.

It also marked the 96th anniversary of the parent organization, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, an international group with more than 10 million members in 11,000 clubs throughout the United States and 45 countries.

The GFWC organization is an outgrowth of a tempest unwittingly begun by Charles Dickens more than 100 years ago. At that time Jane Cunningham Croly, a newspaperwoman with the New York World, writing under the name "Jennie June," wanted to attend a banquet to honor Charles Dickens. Croly was told that she could not attend because she was woman. Angered, she decided to found a club for women only, to "manage its own affairs, to represent the active interests of women, and to create a bond of friendship between them."

Croly proposed that a gathering of existing "ladies clubs" assemble in New York City in 1889. It was an assembly without precedent remembered for ambitious plans to found a permanent organization. In 1890, delegates from women's clubs in 18 states returned to New York and created the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Unique to the GFWC is its firm belief in individual club interests rather than a common organization emphasis. Epitomized by its motto, "Unity in Diversity," the purpose of the GFWC is simply to unite women's clubs in order to enhance community service efforts by volunteers throughout the country and the world.

McCalls Magazine reviewed the history of "ladies clubs" in a 1927 article. McCalls cited a great need, after the Civil War, to educate "a generation of tight corsets - overburdened with frequent childbearing, no outdoor exercise and ignorance of hygiene - all combining to form a generation of the worst health American women had ever known."

According to McCalls, "Timidly, under a hot fire of mockery and disapproval, without a single sympathetic voice raised, and with less than no leadership, such women crept out of their homes once a week and gathered together to read papers to each other on such carefully non-controversial subjects as 'The History of Holland'."

Twenty-one years later these same women, now versed in parliamentary procedure, boarded trains alone, a thing basically unheard of then, and gathered in New York to form the GFWC. They were determined to educate both themselves and others.

Chartered by the Congress and signed by President William McKinley in 1901, the primary interest of this infant organization was in the area of education - education for its members, education for its communities and education throughout the country. As a tribute to the success of these pioneers, the GFWC is publicly credited with establishing 75 percent of America's more than 14,000 public libraries. Additionally, the GFWC frequently has been called upon by various presidents to assist with special projects and programs. The first of these calls came from President Roosevelt's Secretary of War, William Howard Taft. He requested that a representative of the GFWC to be sent to Panama during the construction of the Panama Canal, to organize a Women's Club for the benefit of the wives of the construction personnel.

Dr. Phyllis Woodworth, professor of American history at East Los Angeles College, describes the changing emphasis of women's clubs after the turn of the century from one of purely education to one of progressivism, a popular democratic reform movement of the era.

"The industrialists at the time," Dr. Woodworth said,

"were warned against allowing their wives to belong to the GFWC because these clubs were stirring up a fuss over such things as food and drug regulations, inadequate working conditions and child and woman labor laws which, of course, would end up costing the industries money, if passed."

Dr. Woodworth noted that they joined anyway. The Pure Food and Drug Act passed in 1906, and credit for its passage and directly attributed to the efforts of the GFWC.

A War Fund, which still has a balance remaining today since money can only be expended during a declared war, was initiated in support of World War I. Young women were sent by the GFWC to Europe, in conjunction with the YWCA, to serve as canteen workers and assist the injured in writing letters. The advent of World War II was supported by clubs through donations of money for bombers. Almost every state in the GFWC donated at least one bomber during the war and every state sent wedding gowns to England for English wartime brides to wear. General Marshall personally attended the 1949 GFWC Convention to say that the Marshall Plan would never have been passed had it not been for the support of GFWC.

As the "hot" issues of the day changed, so did the interests of the GFWC membership. Equal pay for equal work was the theme of the '50s as well as the development of an anti-pornography legislative campaign, which 38 states enacted. Nineteen sixty-four saw the cosponsorship by the GFWC of the Statue of Liberty Museum in New York City, a project which continues into the 1980s.

The past decade witnessed the GFWC's commitment to, and involvement in, National Domestic Violence Prevention and Services legislation, as well as starting the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Education Program for women and youth. The GFWC and GFWC Michigan President's Special Emphasis area for the 1985-86 club year is prevention of sexual abuse of children.

In 1982-84, GFWC clubwomen participated in 427,831 community service projects, donating 34.5 million hours and $110.5 million.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs is still the force behind thousands of measures in thousands of communities, communities in every state around the nation.

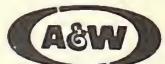

There are 48 GFWC clubs within the 8-county area of Ingham, Jackson, Livingston, Monroe, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne.

There he met Doris Trombley, and on April 19, 1935, they eloped and were married in Waukegan, Ill. In 1937, they moved to Detroit where he worked for the Ford Motor Company until his 1967 retirement from the Quality Control Division. Retirement was kind to Jim. He enjoyed life at his Lake-side home and his cottage on Island 108, in the Thousand Islands. In April of this year, he and Doris celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary. But on Sept. 6, Jim suffered a stroke and on the 19th quietly passed away. He appreciated life, and life was kind to him. As his legacy, he leaves memories of his friendliness and his wonderful sense of humor. God bless Arrangements by PAULUS ROBERTS BROS. FUNERAL HOME, 209 Main St., Belleville.

Field goal is difference

Churchill nips Canton

By DAVE CONLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Livonia Churchill rode on the broad shoulders of junior tailback Jim Naif last Friday, and Naif carried them to a Homecoming victory over Rich Barr and the Plymouth Canton Chiefs, 9-6.

Technically, Churchill rode on Naif's shoulders and his kicking leg. Naif, the Chargers' workhorse who ran for 162 yards in 40 carries against Northville last week, did all of Churchill's scoring. He put the Chargers ahead with a 55-yard touchdown run at 12:03 of the first quarter, and won the game with a 39-yard field goal 40 seconds before the end of the third quarter.

Both Churchill's Herb Osterland and Canton's Barr can be proud of their teams' performances. The duel was a tight defensive struggle all the way, with Churchill managing 132 yards total offense (106 rushing, 26 passing) and Canton amassing 100 yards total offense of which 86 came off of their passing game, 14 their running game.

As Barr later put it, "They have a strong line, and so do we. It was a good defensive effort with one big run (by Naif). We had opportunities to score."

As a matter of fact, Canton had a chance to pull even near the end of the game. With 9:45 left in the fourth quarter, Canton's Dan Olszewski capped off a brilliant two-way game (three receptions for 77 yards in his first game as a tight end, and the team's leading tackler) by charging in from the defensive end's position and blocking a Charger punt at the enemy's 10-yard line. Steve Genyk, in his first game as quarterback, eventually scored on a one-yard run to make the game 9-6. After each team was thwarted in two offensive series, Canton drove to the Churchill five-yard line and kicker Dave Liuzzo was given the opportunity to tie the game. He missed a 22-yarder and the victory went into the Churchill won-lost column.

The Chargers go to 4-0 (3-0 in the Western Lakes Conference) and will play at Farmington Harrison this Saturday. Canton drops to 0-4 over-all and 0-3 in the league and hopes to rectify the situation this week when they host Livonia Franklin for Homecoming.

Wait for Naif

Brushing aside a would-be tackler, Livonia Churchill mainstay, Jim Naif (at right) shifts into high speed to catch up to his blockers against Canton last Friday. Naif scored one TD and also booted a field goal to keep the Chargers' record untarnished in four starts. He's among the team's leading rushers.

Unbeaten Glenn takes on Livonia Stevenson

By KEITH A. DEMOLAY
ANP Special Writer

Whoever said history doesn't repeat itself definitely has not seen the Rockets of Westland John Glenn play football.

On Saturday afternoon - exactly one year after Glenn's thrilling 47-46 four-overtime victory over Redford Union, the Rockets again needed an extra period to turn back a classy North Farmington team, 7-0.

"It was probably one of the hardest fought victories in Glenn's history," admitted

Coach Chuck Gordon. "It was a tremendous victory for us because we had to fight our guts out and, more importantly, keeps us in first place."

Gordon has been around for many of the North-Glenn duels and it has developed into one of the great high school football classics of the times. Five times in the last seven years this game has been decided by a touchdown or less and twice the affair has entered overtime for the outcome. And last Saturday's game certainly added to the continuing saga.

With the victory, Glenn raised its over-all record to 4-0 (2-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. North, meanwhile, fell to 2-2 over-all and 1-2 in the league.

'It was probably one of the hardest fought victories in Glenn history...'
Coach Gordon

Glenn got first crack at scoring in the opening quarter as the "Killer B's" (Tailback Tony Boles and fullback Paul Beasley) took turns running the ball that kept the Rockets moving. But North stood tough and forced Glenn into a 43-yard field goal attempt by Tony Svalluto.

When the ball fell short of the goal post, you could hear the sigh of relief on the other side of the gridiron.

Neither team mounted much of a threat again until North started moving the ball late in the second quarter. After Glenn had seemingly stonewalled the Raiders on the first two plays, dropping tailback Marc Brown for losses each time, quarterback Todd Shepard (Sr., 5-10, 150) picked up a first down on a 13-yard scamper.

Again Glenn stopped on the first two plays, only to have Shepard rise to the occasion again with a 29-yard pass to up-back Steve Goss (Sr., 5-10, 215).

But this time the Raiders were stopped for good as Chuck Hammontree picked off a Shepard pass in the end zone and would do the same a few minutes later as the half ended.

"Chuck played his finest game at John Glenn," said Gordon. "His two interceptions stopped North drives and ran a perfect route for the touchdown pass from Irwin to get the victory for us."

But it was also more than Hammontree that kept Glenn in the game. It was a superior defensive effort by everyone involved that helped keep North off the scoreboard and allowed the Rockets to post their second shutout of the season.

Winless Romulus falls to Taylor Center, 33-12

Romulus football coach Norb Glover put Friday night's game in a nutshell.

"It was probably our worst performance of the year. Mental errors early in the game dug our grave, and we couldn't come back. Taylor Center has a real good team."

Center won 33-12. Taylor Center (2-2) has a real good tailback, too. Ken Owens was a one-man gang against the young Eagle defense, running for two touchdowns on runs of nine and three yards, catching a 17-yard touchdown pass, and throwing a 51-yard touchdown pass.

The game started badly for Romulus. After shutting out Center's offense on the opening series, the Eagles fumbled the punt and Taylor Center recovered the ball deep in Romulus territory, leading to a touchdown and a 6-0 deficit for the Eagles.

Another fumble by the Romulus offense in the second quarter left the defense in the shadow of its own end zone - but not for long. A quick pass to the tight end resulted in a seven-yard touchdown strike and a 13-0 lead for Taylor Center at half-time.

Glover has divided his Eagles up into defensive and offensive squads in an effort to reduce injuries brought on by fatigue. Consequently, the defense is filled with young, inexperienced players. "You have to let them play if you want them to get experience," Glover said.

Ken Owens and his Taylor Center teammates added to the Eagles' experience (not to mention the scoreboard) in the second half by scoring three more touchdowns. Owens started the second half scoring by sweeping wide, then lofting a 51-yard scoring pass over Romulus' drawn-in secondary, capitalizing on the Eagles' inexperience.

Even with the score 33 points against them, the Eagles worked hard to earn some respectability. Romulus got two fourth period scores, one one a 40-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Luther Shannon to tight end Dave Bergman. Bergman, the Eagles' captain, played over an ankle injury suffered against Redford Union last week, but only played at "80 percent of his ability, which hurt us," said Glover. Shannon tallied the final score on a 55-yard touchdown run off the wishbone.

"I'm still proud of the whole team...it's really difficult, but they haven't quit," Glover said. The Eagles will try to snap out of their 0-4 doldrums when they take on Oak Park Friday night. They have an added incentive to win - it's their Homecoming.

Spartans stop Melvindale runners

With one of their key runners sidelined for disciplinary problems, Cherry Hill posted its first Tri-River Conference cross country victory last week at the expense of Melvindale.

Bubba Zirker, the Spartans' No. 1 runner, led the Inkster-based high school to an impressive 22-33

"Our runners cut

Poised for action

Winless Belleville has the dubious honor of traveling to Wayne Memorial Friday night to participate in Wayne's Homecoming activities. Wayne, also having problems finding the winning column, is suffering from a 1-3 won-lost record.

When last we tuned in on the up-and-down drama of Coach Pete O'Neill's Belleville High football team, the Tigers had played three good quarters in their three games - all in the third quarter at which point O'Neill, speaking of the upcoming game against Garden City said, "We have to find out what kind of team we are."

One week later, the answer is: not a bad kind of team. The Tigers lost, 14-7, but showed they can play four quarters of decent football.

"I'm happy with our effort," said O'Neill. "It was the best first quarter, and half, we've played all season. It was a good game, except for our mistakes."

The Tigers took a rare first quarter lead after recovering a Garden City fumble, marching the ball 42 yards and capping the drive with a four-yard run by sophomore Mo Smith. Outstanding players in the drive were split end Jim Hicks, with a 13-yard reception that sustained the drive, and fullback Dennis Montie, who kicked the point-after. Montie won the "Tiger of the Week" honors for his excellent blocking and running against Garden City, even though he played the game with a bad shoulder and dislocated finger.

The Belleville defense held the lead tenaciously in the middle of the third quarter when Garden City recovered a Tiger fumble at the Belleville 23-yard line. The fumble proved to be the game's turning point. Garden City scored a touchdown in four plays, but the gritty defense of Belleville blocked the conversion attempt. Belleville still led, 7-6, going into the fourth quarter.

The fourth quarter proved unkind to the Tigers. Injuries and penalties did them in. Running back Ernie Paponetti went down with an injured ankle, with defensive-offensive standout Daryl Elder and Matt Bracken following him to the sidelines with an injured ankle and hyperextended elbow, respectively.

Garden City took advantage, mounting a long touchdown drive in the middle of the fourth quarter, aided by personal foul and interference penalties.

"Mistakes cost us this game," O'Neill said afterward. "We can't fumble on our 23 and expect to win."

Any optimism that Belleville's good showing prompted is tempered by the injuries. Elder and Bracken, who give Belleville four sound positions, are doubtful starters for next week's Wolverine 'A' Conference contest at Wayne Memorial; Paponetti's status as a starter is also uncertain, pending an X-ray examination.

penalty." The Chiefs outgained Flat Rock in total offense 250 yards to 80 yards. "The entire squad played well," LaBeau offered.

In the after glow of victory, the Chiefs are literally between the Rock and a hard place:

their next opponent is Monroe, a state finalist last year, called "an awful good football team" by LaBeau. "They're undefeated, and excellent fundamentally. For us to even be in the game we're going to have to play football as well as we can."

Chiefs shut down league rival, Flat Rock, 15-6

New Boston Huron, holding Flat Rock High School to 80 yards of total yardage and five first downs, won its first Huron Conference game last Friday, 15-6.

The game was scoreless until 6:31 of the second quarter, when Flat Rock (0-3) halfback Jeff Bird scored on a 47-yard scamper into the endzone. The conversion attempt failed. Four minutes later, the Chiefs from New Boston (1-3) had capped a long drive with a two-yard touchdown run by halfback Mark Simpson. Jon Tackett's point-after gave Huron a 7-6 lead, going into the locker room at halftime.

Chiefs' fullback Nick Zambeck scored on a seven-yard touchdown pass from quarterback John Umin with two seconds left in the third quarter. And the way the Chiefs were defending Flat Rock, it was more than enough insurance.

"Defensively, we played an excellent game," said Huron Coach Tom LaBeau. "Of their five first downs, one was by penalty." The Chiefs outgained Flat Rock in total offense 250 yards to 80 yards. "The entire squad played well," LaBeau offered.

In the after glow of victory, the Chiefs are literally between the Rock and a hard place:

Franklin puts it together for Harrison

By DAVE CONLEY
ANP Staff Writer

"This was the first game of the season in which we played with the intensity of the old Franklin teams."

That's the comment offered by Franklin football coach Armand Vigna, after his Patriots upset highly-rated Farmington Harrison, 9-7, Friday night.

Certainly, it would have been hard to match the 0-2 record that Franklin brought to the game with the team that ran Harrison quarterback Mike Mack out of the pocket 11 times, held Harrison rushers to 46 yards and forced six turnovers.

"The team surprised Harrison - and they surprised me, too," Vigna added. "The game was very much a team effort. The key to the game was superb defense, and the offense got the job done."

The tone of the game was captured late in the third quarter. Harrison had a 7-6 lead when the Patriots fumbled the ball away at their own four-yard line. With only a couple of minutes to go in the quarter it appeared as if a Harrison score would break it wide open. But, Vigna said afterward, "they have a favorite goal-line play, a pass off the Power-I formation. The kids knew it was coming."

One Harrison receiver went long, another short. The pass was intended for the short receiver, but it never got to him. Craig Dlugos, playing the ball, stepped in and intercepted at the 3-yard line. Dlugos ran the ball back to the Franklin 22.

When the Patriots were finally forced to punt at the beginning of the fourth quarter, they had advanced far enough down the field to boot the ball deep into Harrison territory where Franklin bottled up Harrison's offense. Harrison spent the rest of the game pinned down in their own territory.

While the Franklin offense, "getting the job done", managed a 22-yard field goal by Bob Salnikowski early in the fourth quarter, and it was enough to win the game. Salnikowski was also the man responsible for Franklin's first score, in the second quarter. After Harrison scored on an 18-yard sweep by Scott Bissel in the first quarter, Salnikowski, was on the receiving end of a 49-yard TD pass from quarterback Dave Drabick. Both Salnikowski and Drabick were singled out by Vigna particularly Drabick for his gutsy performance.

"He didn't complete a lot of passes, but the ones he completed were big ones. He came up scrambling, running the option, whatever, and it worked."

But it was the defense Vigna chose to call "superb". The front four controlled the line of scrimmage, and along with middle linebacker Chris Parenti, who played 'a whale of a game' they dogged Mike Mack's heels at every turn, sacking him four times. Most importantly, they had time to mount a pass-rush because of outstanding coverage of Harrison's blue chip receiver, Brian Smolinski, by Mike Greener. Smolinski "is excellent at finding openings - he runs hooks, curls. He's not exceptionally fast but he's a key to Harrison's offense," said Vigna. Franklin double-and-triple teamed his area at times, but it all came down to one man, Greener. Greener shadowed Smolinski all day, holding him to four receptions and shutting Smolinski out on deep pass patterns.

Vigna knows his team is sky high after such a sparkling game, and he is wary of letting them go against Walled Lake Western overconfident.

"You can be your own worst enemy," he said. "Western's 2-1, and very aggressive. They beat a good North Farmington team 20-0 and they have an ex-Armand Vigna, excellent sophomore running back named Mike Hall."

Wayne to host WW

Some of the area's top high school boys and girls' cross country teams will invade Wayne Memorial on Saturday for the annual Wayne Invitational.

"It's a wide open field," said Bill Hawley, athletic director at the high school. "I really can't say which team has the edge this year."

The meet will begin at 10 a.m. with boys teams from Dearborn Heights Robichaud, Trenton, Cherry Hill, Allen Park, Livonia Franklin, Ann Arbor, Romulus, Belleville, Taylor Truman, Inkster, Westland John Glenn and Wayne taking to the field. Belleville is the defending champ.

Trenton, the defending champ for the girls' division, was established as the pre-meet favorite. "They always field exceptional girls' cross country teams," Hawley said, "and I believe any team that covets the title will have to beat them."

Hole-in-one!

The 13th hole of the Carleton Glen Golf Course was a lucky place for Belleville's Rick Wilkerson.

Inkster staves off Willow Run, 8-7

Inkster High football coach A.C. James may be giving some serious thought to letting Marvin Brewer or Terrance Donald drive his team bus the next time the Vikings play on the road - they know where the action is, if the regular driver doesn't.

Inkster High was late arriving for last Friday's Suburban Athletic Conference game against Willow Run but the running of Brewer and defensive play of Donald gave Inkster the victory in a cliffhanger. The Vikings protected a one-point lead for three quarters, staging goal-line stands in the second and fourth quarters.

The game started late - and strangely. Because Inkster was slow in getting to the game, the Vikings were assessed a 15-yard penalty. Inkster kicked off from its 25-yard line and Willow Run returned the ball to the Vikings' 35, and scored soon after on an 11-yard sweep. The point-after gave the Flyers a 7-0 lead.

Late in the first quarter Inkster left the driving to Brewer, their senior tailback. Behind the dominant line play of Antonio Anderson, Rodney Gills, and William Mass, Inkster fed Brewer the ball repeatedly on a 70-yard drive that ended with Brewer's touchdown and 2-point conversion. That was the last score of the game.

The game resolved itself into a defensive battle. In-kster's offense avoided passing, completing two of five attempts for only 27 yards in favor of a ball-control game centered upon Brewer, who carried 25 times for 177 yards. The Vikings put their fate in the hands of their defense, which "played a tremendous game" according to James.

In both the second and fourth quarters, Willow Run had first-and-goal situations at Inkster's three-yard line but couldn't cash in. James credited T.C. Wynn with three touchdowns saving touches in the goal-line sequences. The Vikings were led by strong-side linebacker Donald, and two fumble recoveries, defensive captain Gary Simpson, and nose guard Omar Moore.

Looking ahead, Inkster plays River Rouge on Friday in a SAC contest. James says that Rouge (0-4) always seems to give us trouble, regardless of their record. Their quarterback loves to throw and they have two speedy backs. We'll have to contain them." The game starts at 3:30 p.m.

Spartans are 'no match' for Melvindale

After last week's 34-6 drubbing at the hands of Allen Park, Cherry Hill Coach Ken Mientkiewicz wasn't looking for miracles from his inexperienced Spartans - just some consistency and aggressiveness. He got exactly that Friday, as a stubborn Cherry Hill team gave Melvindale a tough Tri-River Conference game.

The Spartans played a strong first half, something they had not done against either Southgate or Allen Park. They trailed 14-0 at the half, on touchdowns by Dave Ross and Orlando Wilkins, the latter score set up by a controversial no-call just before the half. "We improved," said Mientkiewicz, "but we have a long way to go. Defensively, we played better in the first half than in the past two weeks; but the offense is still sporadic-

...We're awful young in the skill positions, counting on a lot of sophomores to carry the varsity program." Melvindale scored once in the second half on an Earl Schafer run. Nose guard Julio Desir and linebacker Michael Johnson, defensive standouts all season long, led the Spartan defense in one of its best outings. On offense, wingback Jim Kurecich and quarterback Lew Davis were the main figures in Cherry Hill's last minute touchdown drive. Kurecich made a 30-yard reception and a 35-yard run that the Spartans at the goal line, and Davis scored on a quarterback sneak. Cherry Hill plays Redford Thurston (1-3) next week, and Mientkiewicz allowed himself some optimism. "They are in the same boat as us as far as age, and physically - we might be a little quicker. I'm hoping that'll be an edge against them."

Glenn makes it 4 straight

"Doug Strehl responded to the challenge of stepping in for the injured Rick McCurdy and doing a great job," Gordon said of the junior linebacker.

So well, in fact, that Strehl totaled 33 tackle points for the day.

It was more of the same hard-hitting defense as both teams emerged from their halftime respite to do battle in the second half.

After a fake field goal attempt by North went awry, the Rockets revved up their engines, spurred on by an enthusiastic and noisy group of fans and cheerleaders.

The "Killer B's", behind the blocking of their offensive line, ran 64 yards to the 10-yard line before North's defense forced the Rockets into a pair of fumbles.

But Glenn got the ball back, anyway, and try again they did before North forced another fumble.

Then things got scary. A 33-yard run by Chris Christman set up a 35-yard field goal attempt by Mike Rudin. Rudin barely missed, but there was a penalty against Glenn and Rudin got another chance. This time he kissed the upright and Glenn's fans roared in relief.

But only for the moment. Overtime was at hand (again), but the Westlanders and their fans are conditioned to these extra sessions having endured the four overtime game last year.

A couple runs by Boles were stopped by North. Then came the play that will be remembered for a long time by Glenn fans. Quarterback Steve Irwin, who now has 11 touchdown passes to his career, stepped back into the pocket, found Ham-montree heading to the end zone and hit him right on the money for what proved to be the only and winning touchdown of the game.

Svaluto's PAT was good and Glenn led, 7-0.

It was now up to the defense and it responded and the Raiders found themselves in the loss column.

Now, it's on to Livonia Stevenson, a traditionally strong football school. The two rivals will meet 7:30 p.m. Friday for another WLAA match-up.

Earlier in the week, the Junior Varsity Rockets defeated North, 9-6, as Bill Richards and Kurt Kuban had two interceptions apiece and Mark Bauschat scored Glenn's only touchdown.

Wayne County officials are again urging senior citizens and individuals with certain chronic conditions to take advantage of influenza shots that are currently available through the Wayne County Health Department.

"We are trying to get the word out to as many people as possible in the high-risk categories, that the influenza vaccine is available at our Health Department locations," Wayne County Executive William Lucas said.

"Each year during the influenza season in the United States there are thousands of deaths among people who are considered to be susceptible to influenza and its complications, and 90 percent of those persons are 65 years of age and older."

Donald Lawrenchuk, M.D., medical director of the Wayne County Health Department indicated, "Those individuals with chronic underlying disorders of the cardiovascular, pulmonary and/or renal systems, as well as those with metabolic diseases such as diabetes mellitus, severe anemia and/or persons with impaired immune functions are also at increased risk when influenza infections strike."

The health department will offer split virus vaccine for those individuals with chronic conditions and to all citizens age 65 or older.

"We strongly encourage anyone in these categories to consult their physician about the need for obtaining this year's vaccine," Dr. Lawrenchuk said.

The typical influenza season runs from November to April, but the maximum protection provided by the vaccine occurs when it is given early before the season starts.

This year again, the county will request a $2 donation for the shot, but indigent citizens may receive a waiver of the charge. No one will be turned away due to inability to pay, said Dr. Lawrenchuk.

"The donations we receive will permit us to purchase additional vaccine to provide protection to that many more people," he added.

The 1985-1986 influenza vaccine has been developed to protect against strains of A/Chile/83 (H1N1), A/Phillippines/82 (H3N2) and B/USSR/83. The start up date for this year's influenza vaccination campaign was the week of Sept.16. The following health department locations will have the influenza vaccine while supplies last.

Report focuses on driver error, traffic safety

Driver error accounts for more than 90 percent of the accidents that occur nationwide, and Southeast Michigan is no exception.

This statistic was the impetus behind a study conducted by SEMCOG, the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

"SEMCOG's Regional Accident Profile" examines driver characteristics that contribute to accidents. It is the first in a series of reports and technical papers that will focus on traffic safety.

The report, which covers all of Southeast Michigan's seven counties, examines driver characteristics in four categories - general driver characteristics, such as time of day, day of week and month of year; drinking or alcohol-related accidents; accidents by age of driver; and accidents by seat-belt use.

The report points to the hours of midnight to 3 a.m. as being the most potentially hazardous time of the day to drive in Southeast Michigan. The chances of being involved in an alcohol-related accident are 14 times higher than they are during morning rush hour. However, for young people the statistics are worse. Approximately 39 percent of the drivers involved in accidents were between the ages of 16 and 24 driving the midnight to 3 a.m. period.

John Amberger, SEMCOG executive director, cautioned that careful statistical analysis must be made before too many inferences are drawn from the report. He did explain, however, that the data contained in the report suggests that the age of the driver and the operation of the vehicle while under the influence of alcohol seriously affect traffic safety.

The report also supports the contention that seatbelts do significantly reduce the severity of injuries.

Carmine Palombo, manager of SEMCOG's Transportation Program area, cited statistics and facts from the report. He also explained the importance of examining factors such as drivers' age, and alcohol use while driving.

"Understanding these factors will encourage transportation engineers and planners to join resources with other professionals and citizens who are also working toward reducing various traffic problems that result from those factors. This report can serve as an aid in designing a risk management and traffic safety program," he said.

The SEMCOG report uses data contained in the Michigan State Police Accident Location Index and adds several enhancements to make it more readily understandable.

Pointing out that the time frame used for the report was 1981-83, Palombo said, "It was the most recent data available. But, more importantly, we have found that the trends we've identified do not appear to change significantly from year to year. The total number of accidents in the region vary from year to year, but the distribution of those numbers into sub-group percentages appear to be stable over time."

A report which will further analyze the information contained in the report is due after the first of next year.

SEMCOG is a voluntary association of counties, cities, villages, townships, intermediate school districts and community colleges in the seven-county Southeast Michigan region. The Council's principal functions are short- and long-range planning for housing, transportation, land use, public safety, recreation and open space, and the environment.

dan's dogs

by dan a. morris

Editor's note: Dan Morris has been a professional dog trainer for more than 20 years and has worked in all phases of dog training. If you have a specific problem, his advice is available by writing to him care of Associated Newspapers Inc., P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Michigan 48184. He will reply in this column.

Over and over I have emphasized the need to obedience train your dog. What must be emphasized is that the obedience course, in itself, is not a cure-all.

Most students begin their first lesson with a sense of excitement anxious to encourage their dog to perform. By the third lesson that same excitement, which spurred the dog to learn and perform has disappeared and the owner walks around the classroom acting angry because his dog hasn't reached "perfection" or bored because he's forgotten how difficult the first week's training was. More often than not, the students have to be reminded again and again, to praise their dog.

Praising one's dog should be made a command to be incorporated into the homework sheet and practiced by the student along with the other commands.

I doubt anyone would continue working at their place of employment, if they didn't receive a paycheck. Well, the verbal and/or physical praise we give our dog is the paycheck required to perfect our dog's performance and encourage it to excel.

Without it you have nothing—a sluggish animal waltzing around, oblivious to his owner's commands.

And it's not the dog's fault. So again, obedience training can be a cure-all when the owner gives the dog a reason to perform. When the two have a good working relationship, the results can be seen in a dog anxious to please and interested in learning.

Oakwood Corporation buys Lynn Hospital

Oakwood Health Service Corp. (OHSC), the parent company of Oakwood Hospital, Dearborn, has acquired Lynn Hospital, Lincoln Park. The joint announcement was made Aug. 29 by Gerald D. Fitzgerald, president of OHSC, and William Starling, board president of Lynn Hospital.

"The acquisition is still another step in a program to extend our outreach to the people of the Downriver and the Western Wayne County area," Fitzgerald said. "It will allow us to improve upon the cost efficiency of health care, while expanding our variety of services to individuals and businesses in these two key market areas."

In addition to its main campus in Dearborn, Oakwood also operates ambulatory health care centers in Canton, Brownstown and Sumpter townships.

Lynn Hospital will be operated as a wholly owned subsidiary of OHSC. Michael Cassidy, who has been an assistant vice-president at Oakwood since September 1983, will be the chief executive officer at Lynn. A reorganization of the Lynn Board of Directors will be announced at a later date.

Starling said the acquisition will make Lynn an effective extension of Oakwood Health Services Corp. and make the full resources of that corporation available to the staff and patients at Lynn. Oakwood Health Services Corp., according to Fitzgerald, views it as part of an important step toward expanded services with an emphasis on alternatives to a traditional hospital stay, such as home care, outpatient surgery, adult day care, and partial hospitalization programs, which are already well underway at Oakwood.

As an independent subsidiary, Lynn Hospital will continue to employ its own workforce.

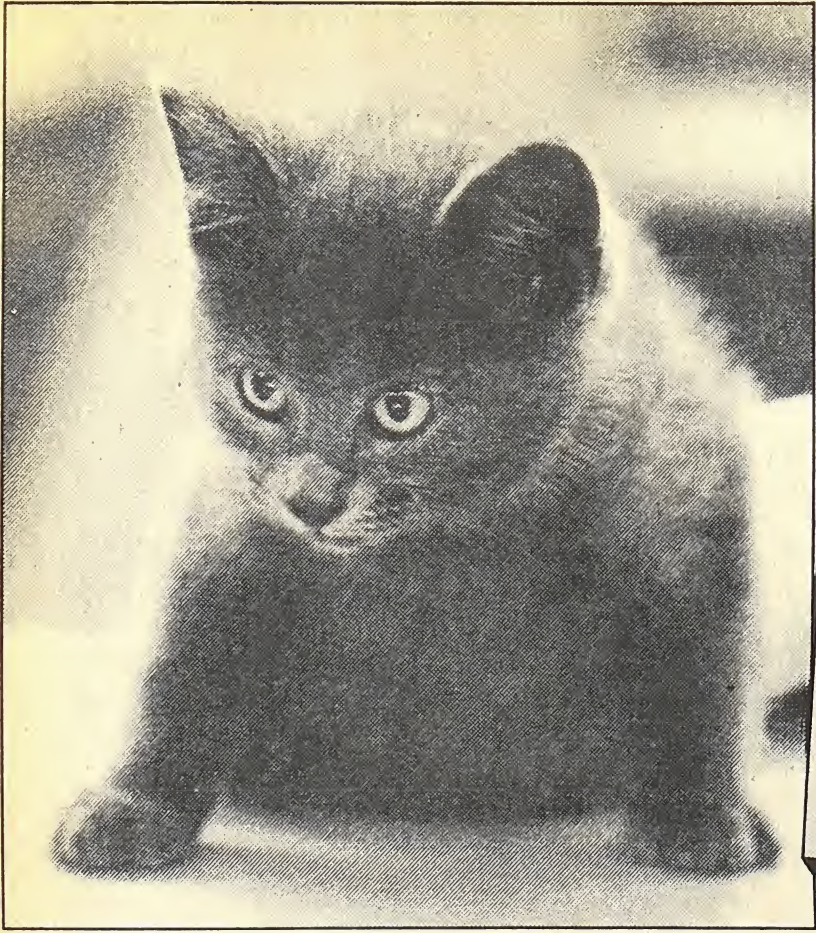

"But, future plans and programs may offer additional opportunities for physicians and employees of both organizations," Fitzgerald said.

Under the umbrella of Oakwood Health Services, Lynn will enhance and strengthen already successful programs in industrial medicine and ambulatory surgery.

Lynn Hospital is a 72-bed acute facility. It was founded in 1955. Lynn, for many years, has operated a very successful industrial medicine service and recently has developed significant laser surgery capabilities. Employees of Ford Motor Company and other Downriver employers have routinely received care.
